Have Returned Home

Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Weihe of 904 East Acacia avenue, Glendale, have returned from a seven weeks' trip through the Yosemite Valley. They went by both the coast and inland route and camped along the way, making the trip in easy stages, and taking in all the points of interest. They had a delightful time, but say that although they visited many towns and cities, they found none to compare with Glendale in any way.

HIS OWN "BUDDIE"

DOMENICO GAYS ARRESTED BY MAN HE BUNKED WITH IN FRANCE

Domenico Gays, now in the county jail to answer with Raphael Dalo for the murder of Frank Norman of Burbank and the attempted murder of H. E. Purrier on the night of July 30th, claims he shot in self-defense, after Norman had shot him through the leg.

Gays was arrested in Morenci, Arizona, and, strange to relate, was arrested by the man who had been his own "buddie" when they were serving in France. This "buddie" is W. H. Mershon, who is now a deputy sheriff in the Arizona county where Gays was arrested. When the order came to the sheriff there to arrest Gays, who was described very closely in the order, Mershon recognized name and description as those of his own former comrade. He regretfully hunted him up and placed him under arrest. Gays was so overcome that he begged to be allowed to kill himself, once when arrested and the second time when being brought to

White Sox Have Magic Line of Quality

By L. R. BLANCHARD (United Press Staff Correspondent) CHICAGO, Sept. 1 .- The Chicago White Sox, crippled and short a stellar staff of pitchers, have one hallmark of championship. Perhaps this mark explains why a club, apparently fatally weak in vital points, has kept up in the race the last two

The hall-mark is the straight line from catcher to centerfield. If any club ever justified the ancient theory or superstition that that straight line means a good club, the Sox have

Ray Schalk, the most spectacular if not the best catcher in the game; 3 better-than-ordinary pitchers in Cicotte, Williams and Kerr to take the box; Eddie Collins the perennial peer of second basemen, and "Hap" Felsch probably the surest outfielder in the major leagues—those men comprise the miracle line.

The Sox are not so weak as appears at first glance. Their third baseman, Buck Weaver, must be ranked with the greatest. "Swede" Risberg as a shortstop is coming fast offensively and defensively and in Joe Jackson the Sox have one of the big berthas of the game.

The weakness has been a shortage of regularly winning pitchers and at first base. The defection of Chick Gandil robbed the Sox of a clever fielder and a dangerous hitter. His place has been taken this year by Ted Jourdan, a flashy fielder but hardly of big league class as a batter, and John Collins, outfielder.

Speech has been defined as a medium for concealing thought and some politicians are emphasizing the

No Force Needed in America

There is in the passage of the Nineteenth amendment a deeper significance than what these 25,000,000 women will do with the ballot now that it has been assured. In these days of unrest and idle talk of bolshevism and revolution there is being enacted in this country a lesson to all Americans, the lesson that the fundamental laws of our country can be changed without that kind of revolution with bloodshed as its conno-

The granting to women of America, for good or ill, full political responsibility after 70 years of agitation, purely of a political nature and without violence, is a vindication of that form of government conceived by our forefathers. The American constitution, called by Gladstone the grandest instrument ever conceived by man at one time, has grown elastic with the years through amendments and supreme court decisions, which "follow election returns" to a point where it is ever amendable to the true convictions of the people as a whole

The American people can have under our form of government any thing just this side of a monarchy self in the class of honest men. all the way to simon-pure Marxian socialism-if they really want it.

The 48 separate states which make up the union are all individual laboratories for governmental experimentation. One state tries a new experitries it and the 46 still hold back to make them happy. and watch the wheels go round. Another arrives at a point where it is felt that the new scheme works; each one drawing something from the other. Then, a sufficient number eventually having reached the conclusion that it is the thing to do, national public opinion is quickly crystallized

Without as much excitement as comes with a national election by itself, 25,000,000 people are given the "of self determination" through the American form of gov ernment. To grasp what this means numerically consider the fact that in Ireland, which for centuries has been a battle ground, there are but a little more than four million people, and in Poland there are few more than 12 million.

The American people under the American constitution can have any thing that they want just as quickly as they make up their minds they want it, whether it is suffrage, prohibition, bolshevism or any other ism; wholly aside from the merits of any one of these measures, this is the true significance of the victory of votes for women.

In form we have wandered far from the plans of those who framed our constitution; in spirit we still commune with them.

Dr. Russell Thanks Voters

To the Voters of Glendale:

I wish to express my appreciation to the voters who supported me in yesterday's election. The over-confidence and the failure to get out the vote has defeated candidates before, and this was another instance.

The campaign was conducted, so far as I know, in a clean, straightforward manner and I thank all those who so generously assisted in various ways.

After all an election, successful or otherwise, is merely an incident in a busy life, and I am ready and willing to enthusiastically support anything tending to promote the general welfare of the public, and especially of Glendale and vicinity.

Cordially, JESSIE A. RUSSELL.

CAMBRIA, Cal., Sept. 1. (United Press.)-Cambria's telephone system wants to suspend operations. Its owner and general manager, Mrs. G. Guerra, has petitioned the state railroad commission to permit her to discontinue service to her 114 subscribers. She sets forth she is 65 years old, in poor health and unable to get competent help.

Mrs. Guerra's rates are 50 cents a month for subscribers furnishing their own instruments, and $1 a month if she installs her own outfit.

Carrying the "Message"

Future Elbert Hubbards will find no theme for a new epic in the bolshevist attempt to carry the "message of sovietism" to the world via They might watch, how-Poland. ever, for developments when the remnants of the defeated and disorganized Red armies reach Moscow. What message will they bring home?
